Worcestershire Biological Records Centre
Finding Rare Species in the Malverns - Project Officer

Salary: £25,000 pro rata for 3 days per week
Fixed Term until September 2019

Based at Worcestershire Biological Records Centre

Worcestershire Biological Records Centre has secured funding from Heritage Lottery Fund to undertake an exciting recording project in the Malverns searching for species of conservation concern. We are now looking for a passionate individual who can deliver this through inspirational volunteer engagement, public events and landowner liaison. You will have experience of working with local communities, leading volunteers and organising events. A key outcome of the project will be to increase the number and quality of biological records for the project area, as such you will need broad knowledge of biological recording and ecological survey techniques together with excellent communication and IT skills.
